Building Self-Esteem in the Early Years

Respect and encouragement can build your child's self-esteem. Encouragement can help your child feel loved, accepted, respected, and valued. You also need to encourage yourself.

You're invited to join us for a discussion about the development of early childhood self-esteem. Among other topics, we'll discuss the difference between praise and encouragement.

Who should attend?

Caregivers of children ages 1 to 6

Workshops are free!
Refreshments provided
Registration required
